

Dram shop law refers to the liability of commercial establishments that serve alcohol to patrons who cause injury to others due to their intoxication. An establishment can be held liable if it serves a minor alcohol and this alcohol was the proximate cause of a third party's personal injury or death.